

"Haunting...magical...compulsive viewing" - The London Times

Syd Barrett was an influential and sophisticated musician who captured the spirit of an era. His abrupt departure in 1968 brought to an end the first incredible period in the Pink Floyd odyssey.

Bohemian artist, poet and visionary, Syd joined Pink Floyd in 1965. He succeeded in creating a wholly original sound and together with the band helped to forge the British psychedelic scene. This unique documentary depicts the band's epic rise to fame under Barrett's influence, to his premature departure in a drug-induced haze and ensuing psychological problems.

Lavishly illustrated with rare early footage of the band performing, along with new interviews with the members of the band - David Gilmour, Rick Wright, Roger Waters and Nick Mason - and their associates, fans and friends including Jerry Shirley (Humble Pie), Graham Coxon (ex Blur), Robyn Hitchcock and original Pink Floyd member Bob Klose.

Featuring legendary early Pink Floyd songs Shine on you Crazy Diamond, Interstellar Overdrive, Arnold Layne, See Emily Play, Bike and more.
